

GWIC website messageboard registration

GWIC website message board is open for GWIC members, when they want to drop a message for all members. First time you want to post something, you have to register.

When you as a new user register, you will be required to activate your account or it will not work. Upon completing the registration application form, there will be sent an activation email to your email address. You must then click on the link provided in the email and this will activate your account. When your account is activated, you must then log in to make any posts. Furthermore, any time you enter the message board, you will be required to log in if you would like to make a post, unless you select the option to stay logged in.

If you are unable to log in or forgot your password, you can go to the login page on the message board (direct link here: <http://gwic.org/messageboard/ucp.php?mode=login>). Under the Username and Password fields, you have the option of re-sending the activation email or being sent your forgotten password. You can then follow the above steps to start posting.
